February Luncheon Presentation
February 12, 2013, Tuesday, 12:15 pm

WHEN WOMEN WERE BIRDS: THE DANCE BETWEEN VOICE AND SILENCE
TERRY TEMPEST WILLIAMS

Ms. Williams' presentation is reflective of her latest book, When Women Were Birds: Fifty Four Variations of Voice. (New York: Farrar, Straus, & Gilroux, 2012)

Terry Tempest Williams is currently the Annie Clark Tanner Scholar in Environmental Humanities at the University of Utah. Her writing has appeared in The New Yorker, The New York Times, Orion Magazine, and numerous anthologies worldwide as a crucial voice for ecological consciousness and social change. She and her husband, Brooke Williams, divide their time between Castle Valley, Utah and Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

Terry Tempest Williams has been called "a citizen writer," a writer who speaks and speaks out eloquently on behalf of an ethical stance toward life. A naturalist and fierce advocate for freedom of speech, she has consistently shown us how environmental issues are social issues that ultimately become matters of justice. "So here is my question," she asks, "what might a different kind of power look like, feel like, and can power be redistributed equitably even beyond our own species?"

The above information was taken from Ms. Williams' website. To learn more about her and her work see www.coyoteclan.com

Good News and Bad News

The good news is no obituaries of emeriti to reports this month. The hope is we are stronger and healthier as we move into a new year. After all, we have avoided the prediction of a Mayan calendar and the “fiscal cliff antics” of our US Congress.

The bad news is no one has reported on emeriti doings in the last month. Moreover, I have not seen any items of note from the various sources I watch. Or we are busy with winter exercise and writing letters to the editors, I have noticed a few of those.

Emeriti Club Benefits and Website

In the last few days some confusion occurred about the benefits we enjoy as emeriti of the University. Specifically, people received varying information about the admission to the University Natural History Museum. Policy and Procedures clearly states emeriti have free admission to the Natural History Museum. I have asked the administrators in charge of our benefits to clarify the position and will in a later newsletter let you know the answers. For now I encourage you to act as our published benefits provide. That means, a person with a Ucard stating emeritus status has free admission to the Natural History Museum. It does not mean an emeritus may gain free admission for others.

All of this is “preamble” to saying our emeriti website offers the most reliable information that we have at any given time. The website gives information about benefits, board members, hiking schedules, other items of interest to emeriti and links to various areas of the Academic Senate. Because the website address is lengthy, I encourage you to bookmark it in your favorites and access it as a first area of information. The Emeriti Club website is:

By Bruce Norris

Winner of the 2011 Pulitzer Prize for Drama and the 2012 Tony for Best Play!

“Dangerous and provocative, but pulverizingly funny to boot.”—Variety

Currently the most electrifying new play on Broadway, Clybourne Park is a fascinating, insightful, and often brutally funny look at the way we talk about—or avoid talking about—race in America. When a white couple wants to buy a home in the gentrifying, all-black neighborhood of Clybourne Park, Chicago, they unknowingly re-enact the same tense drama, fraught with miscommunications and barely suppressed hostility that occurred fifty years earlier in the same house. Contains strong language.

Emeriti Tour to Prague, Vienna & Budapest

11-days / 10-nights

September 26 – October 6, 2013

We plan to visit three of the most beautiful cities in Europe; Prague, Vienna and Budapest, during a very pleasant time of the year. Crowds should be diminished by the end of September and the weather is still likely to be good. We'll spend three nights in each city with free time to make fun discoveries at our own pace.

Sightseeing highlights in Prague include visits to St. Vitus Cathedral, Prague Castle, Old Town Square and the historic Charles Bridge. We'll spend a half-day in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, on our way to Vienna where we will view the Presidential Palace and the quaint Old Town section. In Vienna we'll have a guided tour of the Parliament, the Hofburg Palace, the Opera House and St. Stephen's Cathedral. In Budapest, we'll view the Chain Bridge and visit the UNESCO-listed Castle Hill district and Fisherman's Bastion.

Since Cheryll May, our trip organizer, is a former art museum curator, you can be sure that the art and architecture freaks in the group will have plenty of opportunities to enjoy the artistic treasures of each capital. The official tour guide will have many additional suggestions for the best restaurants, shopping, and other pursuits.

The base fee is $2085.25 per person (double occupancy) plus airfare and mandatory trip insurance and airport transfers. The fee includes first-class hotel accommodations in all three cities, touring by luxury motor coach, a multi-lingual tour director, and local guides in Vienna and Budapest. It also includes 9 hot buffet breakfasts and 4 evening meals.

In coming newsletters, we shall have additional information and reservation forms. This announcement is the first stage of gaining your interest and letting you know we have a Fall, 2013 tour planned. For more information, please call or email Cheryll at 801-906-0501 or cheryll_may@byu.edu
